

The trail are taking there toll on a lot of the bikes, a couple of them are just limping along.....all they have to do is make one day and then run to the star of the final Moto, hope everyone else makes it.

Lucas seems to be feeling fine and is riding very well, he crashed yesterday (day3) on the final moto test, about 100 yard from finish and had trouble getting his bike up because the handle bar had ripped thru his pants and was hung up in the rip. He had a little pain in his leg last night but he said it was fine today, just a bruise.
